Celebrate All Things Sticky for

NATIONAL CHEMISTRY WEEK

It's that time of year again—National Chemistry Week has arrived! We are celebrating this year's theme of adhesive chemistry with a special BYU Chemistry Magic Show. Normally, we host magic shows that are open to the public every evening during National Chemistry Week, but with restrictions due to COVID, this year that wasn't possible. Thankfully, Dr. Stacey Smith filmed a special magic show all about sticky things (with an assist from her sons Bruce and Henry), so we can share our distance learning version with you!

Enjoy!
